Hughie McIntyre Remembers Midgets

It's a far cry from Avonmore, Ontario, to Crossfield, but nevertheless Hughie McIntyre remembers the old haunts, the boys, and the midgets. Last year Hughie was a regular attendee at the games of the Midget League.

In a letter, dated March 19th, to G. Lim, Hughie sends a ranson lighter with the request that it be raffled-off and the proceeds given over to the Midget Club.

The matter is being taken in hand and those interested can obtain tickets at the Oliver Cafe.

To Hughie the midgets and officers in charge say, thank you, with the hope that he may be here this year to see the midgets play ball all resplendent in their new uniforms.

Philosophy of Curling

Inside the club rooms at the rink are benches in a row, Where fellows sit to watch the games.

While wreaths of smoke they blow,

And if you really want to learn The fine points of the play,

Don't shoot your rocks—just stay inside

And listen to what they say.

So light your pipe and take your seat Where it is warm and nice;

Where better games are—always curled

Than out upon the ice.

For soon you'll hear, "He's narrow, sure

He's coming far too hard.

No, no, don't sweep, just let it go.

He's going to get the guard.

"Say watch that guy, the twist he makes

In his deliveree

He'll tie himself into a knot

If he should draw the tee"

He's wide, he's slow, oh let it go.

He never gets the broom

There's no excuse to miss that shot.

He sure had lots of room."

"Now what's he laying that shot for?

What can he be about?

He ought to have a running shot

And get that rock right out

He'll never get it with that ice

Well, look at what he struck!

He got it after all, but then—

He had a lot of luck."

But when these men are called to play—

These curlers skilled and wise—

They make the very same mistakes

As those they criticize

They find it takes but little skill

To dissipate advice,

And play a scientific game—

When they are off the ice.

So as we pass along life's way,

And as we hear men talk,

We're always skillful when we throw

The other fellow's rock.

This disposition is not strange,

In life it's just the same—

We're always wisest when we skip

The other fellows game,

—Clareholm Press.

A Reader's Views on Board of Trade

Crossfield and district are in the proud position of having had a local Board of Trade for six consecutive years, which has done good work for the district as a whole. Many other towns and villages this year are following the lead.

The local Board recently held its annual meeting, when at that time a strong executive was elected for 1936. As yet nothing has been heard whether a meeting will be called to arrange an active program, for the carrying-out of something worthwhile, which will be of benefit to the district in general.

With an executive having the interests of the community at heart, there is much to be accomplished, but without meetings of the Board at stated intervals during the year to receive reports from the different committees, and new business brought up, the Board of Trade as a whole will slip into oblivion.—Contributed.

Vast Crowd Watches R.M.S. "Queen Mary" Leave Clyde Dock

The new British super liner, the "Queen Mary," left her docks on the Clyde River, at Glasgow, on March 24th, for the sea. To the cheers of a large watching crowd the mighty vessel, in charge of many tugs, slowly pulled away on her trip down the river.

Over two hours of a journey was necessary before the great ship of 80 773 tons was safely anchored at Gourick, in the Firth of Clyde, for the night.

Equipped for the carrying of 2,220 passengers on a four-day journey across the Atlantic, the "Queen Mary" has still to undergo extensive fitting-out of the interior before the maiden voyage to New York next May.

A bidder for the blue ribbons of fastest ocean travel, the "Queen Mary" is now a completed ship, more than five years after the keel was laid on December 27th, 1930.

The "Normandie," present holder of the Atlantic Blue Ribband has a gross tonnage of 82,000 tons, and measures 1029 feet, eleven feet longer than the "Queen Mary."

Hull structure of the "Queen Mary" comprises 12 decks, from the sun deck down to the lower deck. Deck space in the new ocean monarch is measured in acres, while three turns around the deck is almost a mile.

It is expected that the trial runs will show that vibration, would be reduced to a minimum, even while the "Queen Mary" travelled at a speed of 29 knots or more.

Military Orders

We regret that in these columns last week, we inadvertently stated that the special films to be shown by Colonel F. J. Scott would take place March the 25th, this should have read April 1st.

On April 1st Colonel F. J. Scott is bringing to Crossfield three reels of films showing, "Cavalry in Action" and "Amphibious Tanks." These films will prove very interesting, and anyone who desires to see them will be made welcome.

Owing to lack of accommodation only grown-ups will be permitted.

If you are interested remember the date, Wednesday, April 1st, at the Armouries.

Census of the Prairie Provinces

The Honorable, Mr. W. D. Euler, Minister of Trade and Commerce, has announced the appointment of the census commissioner of the Prairie Provinces, to be taken as of date June 1, 1936.

The appointment of census Enumerators, who will conduct the house to house and farm to farm canvass, is made on the recommendation of the Census Commissioners.

For our district, that of Bow River, Mr. J. E. Herron, of Calgary, has been appointed Commissioner. Mr. R. L. Nicholson, of Calgary, has been appointed for West Calgary.

Village Projects Needing Attention

In last week's issue of the Chronicle, two interesting write-ups regarding a Fire Brigade and Curling rink were timely because both in their different ways, are of importance to the life of the community.

Just over a year ago the forming of a Volunteer Fire Brigade had a great noise behind it, but after the shouts of enthusiasm had worn off, it finished with the word "Amen."

Again in the middle of the curling season this winter, a few of the curling enthusiasts formed the idea that a new curling rink was needed, which, no doubt, everybody in the community agrees with this inspiring idea, and while the local Board of Trade might take up the matter of the Volunteer Fire Brigade, there are surely enough members of the curling club to take the matter of a new rink in hand.

These matters should be given careful thought and not discarded as soon as read for while we live in this community let's help to make it a community that will be a pride to live in.—Contributed.

Do You Agree?

Human life is compared to the circle; is the simile just?

All lines that are drawn from the centre to touch the circumference, by the law of the circle, are equal.

But the lines that are drawn from the heart of the man to the verge of his destiny,—do they equal each other? Alas some seem so brief, and some lengthen on as forever.

Typographical Error

The typographical error is a slippery thing and sly,

You can hunt till you are dizzy, but it somehow will get by.

Till the forms are off the presses it is strange how still it keeps;

It shrinks down into a corner and it never stirs or peeps,

That typographical error, too small for human eyes,

Till the ink is on the paper, when it grows to mountain size.

The boss he stares with horror, then he grabs his hair and groans,

The copy reader drops his head upon his hands and moans—

The remainder of the issue may be clean as clean can be,

But that typographical error is the only thing you see.

The Chronicle goes home

'SALAD' TEA

is delicious
Why Not a Holiday?

"Get away from your work and take a holiday" is a prescription frequently handed out by members of the medical profession to the jaded city office worker. The advice is usually based on the prediction that the eternal grind of routine work day in and day out, week after week and month after month, has impaired the nerves and that change of scenery and new activities is all that is required to steady the nerves and tone up the flagging system.

Excellent advice unquestionably, but surely as applicable to the man and the woman on the farm and to the small town or village merchant or worker as to the denizens of the larger centres.

As a matter of fact the former to-day are probably in greater need of the recuperative benefits of change of scene than are the latter for the very good reason that no one has sustained a continuous barrage of hard knocks and trying conditions more than the man on the land and his family who have withstood a tremendous and prolonged siege against the combined forces of economic and agricultural depression.

The farmer and his wife and the occupants of the small towns and villages have been the shock troops of a terrific encounter with overwhelming forces for a long period. They have been the closest to the conflict and have borne the brunt of the fray for a term of weary years.

No one can undergo such a lengthy strain without feeling some deleterious effects on the nervous system and the physical frame and it would be more than surprising if tempers have not become frayed and health, if not visibly impaired, at least threatened under such an ordeal.

Such being the case, it is not at all amiss to suggest that the time has come when the workers on the prairies should plan to take a well earned holiday this summer, even if it has to be limited to a week. True, it may be difficult to arrange for the necessary care for livestock and other things which must be provided for in the absence of the family from home, but such obstacles can usually be overcome with a little ingenuity and planning.

Objection might also be raised that it costs money to go away on a vacation and that there is so little of this commodity available as a result of the pressure of economic conditions of the past few years. Perfectly true, but here again the difficulty is not insuperable, except perhaps in extreme cases for, under present day circumstances it is possible to contrive a holiday with very little expense.

For the majority of prairie residents the conveyance problem is already solved. There are few who do not either own or can get the use of a car or truck, even though it may be of ancient vintage; and where these are not available there is at least a wagon and team.

A car and a tent or truck or wagon and tarpaulin available, the twin problem of transport and temporary housing are solved. As for the question of sustenance this also is not difficult of solution on the prairies in the summer time. Some commodities can be carried along on the trip and others can be procured from small town merchants and farm houses at not greater cost than if they were purchased at home.

About the only additional expense of such a holiday trip is the cost of gasoline and oil, if auto or truck is used, and this can be kept within reasonable limits if the vacationist curbs the temptation to travel long distances and burn up road mileage at great speed. One does not have to go far from home to find new and interesting things and the leisurely pace is the one that affords the most beneficial results.

Such a holiday should yield dividends in improved mental and bodily health and it may be made to give educational returns to all members of the participating family. The alert vacationist will inevitably pick up some idea on such a tour which he can put to practical use on his return home. Contact with new minds will invariably result in broadening the outlook on life and incidents and scenes will be absorbed and cherished later. Incidentally, and as an aside, a camera, if one is available, may be made a valuable adjunct to a vacation trip.

Much more might be said about the virtues and values of a holiday. Suffice it to say that the man and his family who take a little time off for a change of scene and use the time sensibly will reap dividends that cannot be estimated in dollars and cents.

Early planning, too, has its advantages. Apart from the pleasure of anticipation it will provide, planning ahead will ensure proper provision against contingencies and enable the adventure to be taken with peace of mind, an important concomitant of a real vacation.

Perfect Courtesy

A certain middle-aged spinster has a vivid memory of Texas courtesy. She was struggling with a hot cup of coffee in a small-town railway station, trying to get it before the train pulled out. A cowboy, seated a couple of stools away, noted her plight, and seeing the guard waving to the woman, came to the fore.

"Here, ma'am, you can take my cup o' coffee. It's already sauced and blowed."

A forwarding agency in Tokyo advertises: "Send your luggage to us. We will send it in all directions," while a shop-agent in Seoul, Korea, reads: "J. K. Blank—Bread Baker. The Best Loaf in Town."

Storm Upsets Salvage Scow

Within an hour of its destination, a small, loaded scow was tossed by heavy incursions of ice, turned turtle in Hecate Strait, off the coast of British Columbia, and dumped into the sea $3,000 worth of machinery which had been salvaged at considerable expense from a drowned sawmill at Queen Charlotte city. The scow, recently overhauled at a cost of several hundred dollars, was being towed by the "power tug" Daily when a strong northeast squall pinned too much for it.

Speed Limit Of Planes

Only 575 Miles An Hour: With Present Wing Design

With the present design of wings, airplanes will be limited to a speed of about 575 miles an hour, Dr. George W. Lewis, director of research of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, showed at a special meeting of the Institute of the Aeronautical Sciences, that was held in the New York Museum of Science and Industry in Rockefeller Center. At this speed Dr. Lewis said—and he showed motion pictures to prove the point—the sustaining flow of air over the top of the wing suddenly breaks away in a "shock wave" and the airplane loses all its lift.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarid to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of fluid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not there, your food does not get its full share of the bile. Gas builds up in the bowels, causing constipation. Dead poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, weak and the world looks blue. A more bowel movement does not always get the liver as well. It takes those good old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Because of this, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of a hundred bile salts or more. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. It usually takes only one box.

Killed By Peculiar Accident

Visitor To Australia Victim Of Violent Shell Fish

Stung by the beautiful but vicious cone shell of the coral reefs, a visitor to the Barrier Reef, on the Queensland Coast of Australia, has died in agony. He is the first white person to meet death in this way. The victim picked up a live specimen of the shellfish, which is covered with a thin skin. Holding it in his hand, he commenced to scrape it with a knife, when it thrust out its barbed spine and punctured his palm. Some time later he expired. He had been in Australia for some time, and his eyesight was failing. Subsequently he lapsed into a coma and exhibited all the symptoms of snake bite. He was rushed to the mainland, but died soon afterwards.

Famous Diamond Polished

Koh-i-Noor Taken From Buckingham Palace For Regular Cleaning

The Koh-i-Noor, the most famous diamond in the world, has just had its annual "bath." A dagger like man drove up to Buckingham Palace in London. Five miles later he emerged with two plainclothes policemen. They jumped into the waiting taxicab and drove off to Commercial Road. E. There the famous jewel was placed in the hands of one of the greatest experts in the washing and polishing of diamonds. Later in the same day the Koh-i-Noor, was taken back to its safe near the Queen's bedroom.

Men Had Swift Ride

Australian Sure Stream-Liner Train Could Not Compete With Whale

Riding on a streamlined train has nothing on that at the end of a rope attached to an angry whale. This is the opinion of W. Edwards and J. E. Fisher, fishermen of Goffs Harbour, Australia. While they were fishing near Goffs Harbour the anchor of their launch fouled a large whale, which started off at about a mile a minute, both men holding grimly to the madly-carving craft. Fearing that the whale might give any second and was the boat with it, Edward worked forward and cut the rope, freeing the boat.

Cost Of Living

Slight Decline Is Reported By Bureau Of Statistics

The Canadian cost of living index, on the basis 1926 equals 100, declined from 80.7 in January to 80.4 in February, as a result of a moderate recession in food prices, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported. The food index was 72.9 against 73.9 in January.

Increases in eggs, butter, lard and pork were more than offset by declines in all other meats and potatoes.

Coal and coke prices were slightly higher, as were also those for gasoline.

Shipping Logs To India

A ship left Vancouver in a recent week for South Africa, carrying a consignment of aspen logs for India. These logs, cut at Lesser Slave Lake, Alta., will be used for making matches in factories in India.

New Health Body At Work

Campaign For The Universal Pasteurization Of Milk

For a number of years now the Social Hygiene Council, indefatigably led by Dr. Gordon Bates as general director, has been performing a national service in this country that is beyond all praise. Feeling the need, however, of giving this organization a still wider scope, it has been re-organized during the past few weeks and now stands forth as the Health League of Canada. Fortunately Dr. Bates still remains its general director, but the presidency has been conferred upon the Honorable Mr. Justice Huddell of Toronto.

Powerful support was given to this re-organization by the presence of the Governor-General, Lord Tweedsmuir, who urged that there should be active co-operation between public and health authorities and that every individual should give greater attention to public health in the future than in the past. With a new government and a new minister of health at Ottawa this renewed stimulus to public interest should be able to help and an inspiration.

Dr. Bates has announced as one of the first objectives of the new body a national campaign for the universal pasteurization of milk. This has just been launched. Pasteurization has to overcome the same kind of prejudices as vaccination, for instance, had to do at one time; plus the opposition of those who conceive it to be contrary to their commercial interests. The need for educational propaganda is clearly indicated and this is what is being supplied. Sooner or later—sooner, rather than later, it is to be hoped—this campaign will bear fruit from among the people of Canada, and the benefits—Quebec Chronicle-Telegram.

Island Loses Its Queen

Small But Fearless Ruler Of Tory Island Is Dead

With the death of Mary Herrierty, only three feet high but proud and fearless, a wild, desolate island off the Donegal Coast, Irish Free State, has lost its ruling "queen" and most dominant personality.

On Tory Island, where customs have not changed for centuries, she was the word of Mary Herrierty that went as law. The tallest, strongest men on the island did not dare refuse her bidding.

Her little domain was but one of many similar islands "kingdoms" along the coast of Ireland; islands where Gaelic is spoken rather than English, and where the women still wear the shawl and old Irish cloak.

Many of these islanders have for generations elected a woman rather than a man as their chief. The Claddagh people on the Galway coast have always elected a "queen" and man has yet to "rule" over the people there.

New To Science

Australian University Has Three Animals From New Guinea

Three specimens of animals brought from an island off the northwest coast of New Guinea to Professor Wood Jones, of Melbourne (Australia) University, had to be introduced to science. Two are only carcasses but the third, a lively ball of white fur, keeps itself daintily alive on banana, passion-fruit, biscuit milk and honey, and an occasional paw-paw or carrot. It is a small marsupial, with some slight similarity to a rare species in the tropical part of Australia.

Although tuberculosis is being fought valiantly and the death rate is lower, the disease is considered still the greatest public health problem of the country.

So minute are tobacco seeds that a handful will furnish enough plants for an acre of ground.

Famous Underground Depot

Used By Escaping Negro Slaves During Civil War

History's famous "underground railroad" has lost its "depot." This was a three story brick building in Cincinnati in use before and after the civil war in aiding the escape of Negro slaves. After crossing the Ohio river the fugitives made their way through a tunnel to this building.

The structure, more than 100 years old, is now being demolished to make way for a gasoline station.

The foundation wall of the building carries evidences of a walled over passage 5 feet high and 4 feet wide. Similar indications of an underground passageway are apparent on the foundation walls of several of the other buildings for three blocks west of the old brick building.

Oldtimers insist the tunnels were built by slaves who escaped from southern plantations. They were usually concealed beneath loads and transported in wagons.

The term "underground railroad," supposedly, resulted from the tunnel to the old brick building. There opponents of slavery supplied the runaways with food and clothing.

In the basement of the building is a space, 20 feet long and 10 feet wide, filled entirely with rock. Investigators have been unable to learn the significance of the rock. Old residents of the 6th street commission district, where the building is situated, hope the raising of the building will clear up the mystery.

Punished For Eight Weeks

Flying License Suspended When British Pilot Broke Regulations

What is believed the first case in England of an aviator having his flying license suspended has been sent to Pilot Officer B. R. Ker, of South Wood, who made a solo flight from Newcastle to Oslo, Norway, and back in 11 hours five minutes. The flight was made in secrecy. Ker left Woolston Airport without passing through any Customs formalities. As this was a breach of regulations the Air Ministry was obliged to take some form of action, but in recognition of Ker's enterprise and the value of his achievement, that action was applied in the mildest possible form, a withdrawal of his flying license for eight weeks.

Trio To Explore Greenland

Scientific Research Is Purpose Of Three Young Frenchmen

Three young French scientists, guided only by a sextant and compass, will brave the 40-below-zero blizzards that sweep across Greenland to explore its little-known and uninhabited interior this summer.

The trio will travel by dog-train from Kristianshush on the island's west coast to Angmagssalik on the east coast, a distance of 530 miles.

Scientific research is the avowed purpose of the expedition, backed by the French government. The explorers will leave for Kristianshush early in April.

Each man will mush behind a 25-foot sled loaded with 770 pounds of supplies and pulled by 12 dogs. The trip would be impracticable, said Victor, unless the dogs were used both as draught animals and food. They expect to arrive at Angmagssalik with one sled and only eight dogs.

Not A New Term

Word "Radio" Was Used As Far Back As 1896

Radio, the combining form of radios from a Latin word meaning, among other things, a ray, came to be used by itself in a curious way. At a convention drawn up in Berlin in 1906, "radio" was adopted as the distinguishing mark of wireless telegrams, and was so adopted by the United States Congress in 1912. Then when wireless telephony came along, "radio" was used for that, too, and its earlier meaning was eclipsed. A radiogram, however, was originally an X-ray photograph or radiograph, and this term was so common as far back as 1896—Toronto Star.

To Make The Sale

We honestly don't believe this little story, but the lady who told it to us really did happen up on Madison avenue where the lady was looking at dresses. She found one with lines that pleased her but she was doubtful about the color. "I wonder if it will clash with this coat?" she said to the assistant. "Absolutely, madam," the girl said. "In sure it will clash beautifully!"

BELIEVES CANADA GREATEST MINING AREA IN WORLD

Ottawa.—Belief Canada was the richest mineral area on earth which "our grandchildren" would not exhaust, was expressed here by Lord Tweedmuir, governor-general, to the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy.

Speaking at a dinner closing the three-day meeting of the institute, Lord Tweedmuir said mining was no longer a gamble except in its first stage. It speedily becomes a highly organized business and an exact science. Up-to-date business methods and every new development in chemical and mechanical science were being used.

One feature about Canadian mining pleased him. "In most mining areas—certainly in South Africa—the prospector, the man who did the pioneering work, did not reap the fruits of his labor. That was left to the capitalist who came after him, who never stirred from his office chair. But here, not only has the prospector often made the big money, but he has stuck to it."

Mining problems were not new to him, the governor-general said. In South Africa after the war he was compelled to acquire at least a smattering of the question when the future of the gold industry of the Rand was under consideration.

In the few months he had been in Canada, he said, he had seen gold and copper mines in northern Ontario and asbestos mines of Thetford, Que. He hoped to see a great deal more.

"It is a wonderful piece of good fortune for Canada that in these difficult days, when agriculture all over the world is in straits and when normal industries are crippled, when we have found this new source of wealth, much of which can be as readily cashed as a Bank of England note."

Cattle Sales Increase

Heavier Marketing Of Cattle In Western Canada

Toronto.—Heavier marketing of cattle in Western Canada has been shown by stock yard sales for the first 11 weeks of 1936. Alex. G. Hall, of Canada Packers Ltd., told the 18th annual meeting of the Eastern Canada Livestock Union here.

Exports to the United States of beef cattle also showed an increase over the same period of 1935 but shipments to the United Kingdom had fallen off from 4,781 head in 1935 to 1,765 up to March 12, 1936, Mr. Hall said.

Sales on stock yards, Mr. Hall said, for the period ending March 12 show a decrease of 12,478 head in Toronto and Montreal but an increase of 19,516 in the western markets. There had been an increase of $202 in shipments from the west to the east in that period.

Meeting in convention earlier the delegates decided to appoint a committee of five in addition to the union's president and secretary to co-operate with a committee from the Western Canada Livestock Union in gathering information and preparing it with respect to inter-empire trade pacts which will be reviewed in 1937.

Growing In Importance

Canada Going Ahead As Industrial Country States Massey

London.—Canada's growing importance as an industrial country was stressed by Hon. Vincent Massey, the Dominion's high commissioner to London, at a luncheon given by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in Great Britain.

He believed trade between Canada and the United Kingdom "should form a practical demonstration between the two countries of their regard for and interest in each other," and lauded the economic progress in the Old Country.

Committee Appointed

To Investigate Administration Of Radio Act Of 1932

Ottawa.—Operations of the Canadian Radio Commission and its administration of the Canadian Radio Broadcasting Act of 1932 will be investigated by a special House of Commons committee of 23 members. Its membership will include 17 Liberals, 4 Conservatives, and one each for the C.C.F. and Social Credit groups.

Announcement of the committee personnel, together with an outline of its reference was made in a resolution placed on the order paper of the House of Commons by Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of marine.

The committee will "inquire into the operations of the Canadian Radio Commission and its administration of the Canadian Radio Broadcasting Act of 1932 and amendments, and the regulations made under authority thereof; advise what, if any, changes shall be effected in the existing systems of radio broadcasting; and whether the said statutes and regulations should be amended in whole or in part, and what, if any, additions should be made thereto; also inquire into the extent to which there has been any abuse of broadcasting privileges, either for political or advertising purposes, and to advise as to what principles should govern the regulations or control thereof."

Canadian Women Honored

Selected For Outstanding Achievements In Chosen Fields

New York.—Two Canadian women were among a group of 23 selected for outstanding achievement in varied fields who were honored here by the New York League of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women at a dinner.

They were Isabel Stewart, of Fletcher, Ont., and formerly of Morden, Man., professor of nursing education at Columbia University, and Margaret Outhbert, of Prince Albert, Sask., who is director of women's activity for the National Broadcasting Company.

The program was part of a nationwide celebration of business women's week, inaugurated last year as an annual event to emphasize the importance of women in art, business and the professions.

Miss Stewart trained as a nurse in Winnipeg before going to New York. She is a sister of Dr. David Stewart, superintendent of Manitoba sanatoria.

Tackaberry, of the Royal Canadian Air Force, were presented along with a number of other officers of the armed forces of Canada, including Capt. Guy Simonds, Major James Hunter, Capt. K. G. McCullagh, Lieut. M. P. Joy, Lieut. J. A. Bennett and Lieut. A. B. Connolly.

Bishop W. T. Hallam, of Saskatoon, as well as Lester Pearson, first secretary of the Canadian high commissioner's office here, and Ross McLean, were also presented.

Made Excellent Showing

Saskatchewan Youths Win In Judging Competitions At Brandon

Brandon.—Two Saskatchewan youths made an excellent showing in the students' judging competitions at the Manitoba winter fair here. In a class of more than 50, Jack Parker, of Togo, was among the winning five in four competitions, and Clifford Shirley, of Carlyle, collected prize money in two.

The competitions were held in conjunction with the agricultural short courses being conducted here during March by the Dominion Extension Service. Jack Parker came third in the swine and poultry judging class, fourth in the cattle class and fifth in the seed class. Clifford Shirley won second place in the swine class and fourth in the horse class.

Continuing Long Trip

Woman Starts Last Lap To Fairbanks With Dog Team

Tanna, Crossing, Alaska.—Diminutive Mary Joyce, 27, and her five-dog team struck the snowy trails on the last 160 miles of her 1,000-mile mush from Taku to Fairbanks.

The Taku hunting lodge mistress, making the trip "just for the fun of it," was accompanied by an Indian guide. He will break trail as far as Big Delta, 91 miles from Fairbanks. She will travel the rest of the way alone, as she has most of the time since she left Taku, December 20.

EVOLVE PLAN TO SMOOTH OUT THE LOCARNO BREAK

London.—A French spokesman said that Locarno members have agreed tentatively on a plan to adjust German reoccupation of the Rhineland.

Informed French quarters said the provisional plan contains three points forming a compromise between the British and French viewpoints.

1. An appeal shall be made to the Hague court for decision on the Franco-Soviet mutual military assistance treaty.

2. Measures shall be taken to preserve the status of the Rhine zone pending arbitration with the possibility of an international force, perhaps British and Italian, to control the territory.

3. Guarantees of mutual assistance among remaining Locarno members in case of an attack.

The tentative agreement was reached at a session of Locarno representatives after the former allies had split on the German issue at a League of Nations' council session.

Direct telephone contact will be established between the two cabinet sessions.

Not a dissenting voice was raised against the Franco-Belgian resolution formally branding Germany a treaty violator, but Great Britain and Italy balked at sanctions against Germany, breaking with the other remaining Locarno members, France and Belgium.

BRITISH FLIER WINS COVETED TROPHY

Jean Batten, generally conceded to be the most daring and accomplished aviator among the fair sex, is shown above with the coveted International Trophy which she has just been awarded for her solo flight over the South Atlantic Ocean. Miss Batten has made several solo flights across Europe and Asia and has set several long distance flight records.

KING IN UNIFORM

King Edward VIII. wore the uniform of the Welsh Guards when he attended the 21st anniversary celebrations of the regiment in London. We see him, above, entering the parade grounds.

Roads To Mines

Reasonable Access To Mining Properties To Be Provided

Ottawa. Promise of reasonable access to mining properties by providing roads in co-operation with the Dominion department of mines and provincial departments was made here to the Institute of Mining and Metallurgy by Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of railways and canals.

Mining industry, he told an institute luncheon, had grown until it was of second importance in Canada as a producer of wealth. Dominion and Ontario mine departments were zealous in placing needs of the mining industry before the government, he said. The department of railways and canals was interested in transportation, railways, canals and to a smaller extent, highways and civil aviation.

His department had a program prepared and was ready to co-operate with the other departments in giving the mine reasonable access to their properties.

Deserter From Rhineland

Mulhouse, France.—The first deserter from Germany's new Rhineland army found a haven in France after swimming the Rhine. Exhausted by the pursuit of German soldiers, who caught his companion, a youthful Reich soldier staggered up the bank into France near the Hunsingue railway bridge.

Plebiscite Proposed

Would Take Referendum Of People Before Engaging In War

Winnipeg.—A resolution proposing a plebiscite before Canada enters any war except in the case of invasion of the Dominion will be submitted to the Dominion convention of the Canadian Legion at Vancouver by the Winnipeg and district command.

The resolution was passed at the district meeting with representatives of 20 branches in attendance. They represented a membership of 3,000 war veterans.

The referendum, the resolution proposed, should be submitted to the whole population of adult age. In the event of a declaration of war after the referendum, the resolution proposed that all soldiers of both sexes shall be conscripted to the extent of being paid only the basis of pay and allowance as soldiers.

Manufacture of munitions of arms and all war equipment should be taken over by the government, permanently in order to prevent private profit, the resolution declared.

Employment For Veterans

Commission Will Be Set Up To Assist In Matter

Ottawa.—Establishment of a Veterans Assistance Commission to assist, among other things, in obtaining employment for veterans, is provided for in a government resolution placed on the order paper of the House of Commons by Hon. C. G. Power, minister of pensions and national health.

The pensions minister has also given notice of legislation amending the War Veterans' Allowance Act, so as to give special consideration to veterans of 55 and over but not yet 60 who are unable to maintain themselves.

Sees Better Tourist Season

C.P.R. Official Predicts Increase In Passenger Traffic

Winnipeg.—Indications for a much better tourist season throughout Canada and for better railway passenger business are observed by C. B. Foster, passenger traffic manager for the Canadian Pacific Railway system, who spent a day in Winnipeg in conference with N. R. Desbris, assistance passenger traffic manager, and other western line officials. Mr. Foster left for the Pacific coast and on his return expects to have even more promising reports to make of the general travel situation.

TAKE STEPS TO MAKE CHANGES IN THE B.N.A. ACT

Ottawa.—Prime Minister Mackenzie King has given notice of the first steps his government will take toward amending the constitution in line with plans already announced.

Two amendments will be sought by means of a joint petition from the senate and commons to the king. One will make constitutional the imposition of indirect taxation by the provinces on luxuries, amusement and entertainment. The other will give constitutional authority to Finance Minister Dunning a proposed new basis of dominion-provincial financial relations.

Throughout the years since the war there has grown up in the Dominion schedules of purely provincial taxes on commodities of the luxury class, on amusements and in some instances on hotel and restaurant patronage.

These taxes have been collected under the constant possibility that embarrassment might be caused if the province's constitutional right to collect them were challenged in the courts.

It is now proposed to add to section 92 of the B.N.A. the section that deals with particular rights of the provinces, a clause giving provinces indirect taxation rights in respect of retail commodities other than beverages and tobacco and other than those articles sold for delivery outside the provinces; also in respect of patronage of hotels, restaurants, places of amusement and entertainment.

With respect to Dominion-provincial financing the amendment sought will empower the Dominion to guarantee provincial loans and to take from the provinces specific security in the form of collateral such as subsidies annually paid the provinces from the Dominion treasury.

WOULD CURTAIL ANY INCREASE IN COAL PRODUCTION

Ottawa.—Curtalement for the next five years of development work designed to increase production was urged on the Alberta government in the report of Sir Montague Barlow, English expert, who investigated the province's coal industry last fall.

Sir Montague, in the course of recommendations calling for increased subsidies, fixed freight rates for a period of five years, improved marketing and working conditions and public utility, advised the government to refuse, save in exceptional circumstances, to grant new leases of mineral areas during the period suggested.

Hon. C. C. Ross, Alberta minister of lands and mines, in the course of a paper read before a meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, made public a summary of the report. Sir Montague came to Canada last fall under an arrangement entered into by the former United Farmer Government of Alberta which was replaced by the Social Credit administration before the inquiry opened.

Coal, natural gas and petroleum are the principal mineral resources of Alberta, constituting 91 per cent. of the total. Coal production is increasing, Mr. Ross said, the output in 1935 being 5,462,973 tons, an increase of 13 per cent. over the previous year.

Of the total output 28 per cent. is consumed within the province, 13.7 per cent. in other provinces, 36.9 per cent. sold to railways, and the remainder processed into briquettes with a small amount exported to United States.

The Barlow report urged the provincial government "not only to refuse new coal leases for the next five years but to make arrangements with those now holding undeveloped mineral areas releasing them from the obligation of starting active operations within a specified time, and that taxes should be remitted on such holdings in return for the promise not to enter production. These restrictions would not apply to bona fide development of existing mines which would be carried out in the ordinary course of mine operations."

May Set Up Harbor Board

Would Replace Commission Control Of Leading Canadian Ports

Ottawa.—Statutory confirmation of the central harbors board set up last fall to replace the commission control of the seven leading Canadian ports is provided in a bill presented to the House of Commons by Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of marine.

A body to be known as "the national harbors board," clothed with wide powers and financed by the Dominion government, is contemplated in the measure. The board will control all the harbors of Halifax, Saint John, Chicoutimi, Quebec, Three Rivers, Montreal and Vancouver. Other harbors may come under its jurisdiction later.

Early Start On Land

Alberta Town Sets Record With First Official Report

Winnipeg, Man.—Barnwell, Alberta, sets this year's record for the first official report of work on the land, according to a message received by the agricultural department of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

"Spring cultivation and harrowing are becoming general at this point on the Lethbridge division of the C.P.R., just five miles from Taber, which has held the record for some years. First reports in 1935 came from Taber on March 21."

No plowing is reported on the prairie.

Sailor Killed By Explosion

Gibraltar.—A British sailor was killed and eight others, including an officer, were injured when an unexplained explosion occurred aboard the 1,100-ton destroyer Westcott during fleet exercises in the Straits of Gibraltar. Authorities declined to give further details of the accident. All the injured were placed in a military hospital here.

Mounties' Horses For Sale

Regina.—The regular spring cart, eight horses owned by the Mounted Police will be sold at public auction late in April, it has been announced. Whether any purchases will be made to replace the horses has not been decided.

Between Ourselves

Has this Old World gone Awry?
Or is it the inhabitants? On one side we see misery, Unemployment; Curtailed Wages and Earnings; on the other side, the over abundance of the world's goods. Is it right that such conditions should prevail?
What has caused these conditions?
The aftermath of war? Over speculation? Or displacement of man power by that of machinery?
While these may be contributory, is it not the case that these faults have come about through the jealousy of nations, each nation wanting its own place in the sun regardless of what it might cost its neighbors.

In a world of plenty, it is right, and just, that the largest portion of humanity, should either be in an improvised condition or so handicapped as to have to deny themselves the best in life's goods? Is it the proper state of affairs, that people who are willing to work that they might live, should be denied that chance, to have withheld from then, the God given right to protect their families? The answer is "NO" Individuals, Employers, Nations, have overlooked the rule of the Master, and are trying to lay up for themselves treasures on earth, forgetting that moth and rust doth corrupt, anywhere except in heaven. Overlooking the old maxim, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

It matters not the country you live in, be it Canada, United States England, France, or any country you like to name, unless each country practices what it preaches, this old World will never be cured of its ills. The nations of today want all markets for themselves, they want to sell, but in return to purchase very little, forgetting that a lopsided deal never gets anyone anywhere. How can we expect to receive if we do not give. Each country today is trying to live unto itself alone, how then can they expect their citizens to do other than follow the example set; Jealousy, Hatred; Greed; is far too prevalent amongst the countries of the World, each so self-centred that they cannot see past their own noses. Its true many efforts have been made to remedy the situation, but they have only been of a half hearted nature. We hear many theories of the Why, When, and Wherefore, of the tributary causes of today's conditions, but no one has yet come forward with any real solution to cure the world's ills.
Some people cry that the Governments are to blame, that they should do this, that, and the other thing, but can they? Governments after all can only do so much, but they can at least set a proper example, and lead their countries from the morass of trouble in which they are afloat.

The crying need today is for men and women, in places of authority who can and will see to it, that the nation is served, see that no person or persons are allowed to exploit for their own good, to the detriment of others, that the laws brought down are for the common weal, not for any particular individual, firm, or party. The first step having been taken by those we have put in authority, they having swept their houses clean, then and only then can they see to it, that the businesses of the country are next put in order, that employees are given fair wages, fair hours, teaching the rule of the master, making this world a fit place to live in.

Yes the difficulties of today will only be solved when those in the seats of the mighty, first put their houses in order, see that they are scrupulously clean that deceit and unnecessary expenditure are curtailed, thus relieving the burdens of their people.

Once this is done, they can meet the rest of the nations of the World on the same footing forming a Common Wealth of Nations, that will create throughout the world Harmony and Peace, helping each other in their problems.

After all what affects one of us nations, in some manner or other either directly or indirectly, affects the rest of us, we can't get away from it try as we will.

As long as Nations cry Might is Right, just so long will there be Wars and Rumours of Wars, but by united efforts, of United Nations the world over, each busy looking after the welfare of its own citizens will come peace and tranquility to this old world of ours, for each will be so busy doing good and helping the other fellow, that the words of the poet will be manifest at all times:

No man is born into the world,
whose work
Is not born with him; there is always work;
And tools to work withal, for those who will;
And blessed are the horny hands
of toil.

The writing is on the wall what it is to be, a fight between those who have an overabundance of the world's goods, and those who have not, or will those who have and can spare it, see to it that some remedy is resorted to?

Ether Waves By Connar

Indoor Aerial Not Efficient.

Did you ever stop to think that everything that comes out of the loudspeaker of your radio must first be picked up by the aerial? For good reception it is therefore absolutely essential that a good aerial be used. This fact is becoming increasingly important with the increased use of short wave receivers.

When we first had radio, the power of the broadcasting stations was quite small. The sensitivity of our receiving sets was very low.
People who wished even reasonably good reception in 1925 found it necessary to erect a large and well-constructed aerial. Since that time, radio stations have increased their power many times, receiving sets have become many times more sensitive, and the average radio owner has lost sight of the importance of a good aerial. It is true he still gets as many stations as ever, but he also gets a lot more noise than he used to. The reason he still gets as many stations as before is because stations are better and receivers are better. He gets more noise than before because his aerial is usually inefficient.

If you were to remove an aerial that has been exposed to the weather for two or three years, you would find that the surface of the wire has become coated with a black substance. Upon removing this coating and examining the wire under a microscope, you would find that the action of the weather and the acids in the air have pitted the wire to a great extent. It is a well known fact that radio currents travel on the surface of the wire only. Therefore, when the surface is pitted and covered with dirt, it impedes greatly the weak signals being picked up from the broad-castings stations.

Due to a large increase in receiver sensitivity, a number of indoor aerials are being used. When anyone mentions a broadcasting station you immediately think in terms of large towers, high in the air, erected at tremendous expense. Obviously, if an indoor aerial was efficient, these broadcasting stations would save themselves this large expense. A good receiving aerial costs little to erect, and the results will more than repay you.

Editor, the Chronicle

Dear Sir:

Like other parents, I presume, we scold the children when they come home with wet feet. I had occasion to go to the school the other day, and after going along the pathway close to the school, it is no longer a surprise to me that the children have their feet wet. It was then in a deplorable condition, and I would respectfully suggest to the School Board and Village Council that they severally or jointly look into the matter, and get some action. It is unfortunate that our members have only one or two children between them attending school, but I hope they won't for that reason shelve the matter.

As I understand, there are ample funds to do some improvements, some of which are much needed.
I trust that something can be done to improve the walking facilities from the school to Woleg's and Patmore's corner before further conditions make the roadway impassable.

Yours truly,
Percy C. Griffiths.

Mr. Lady

One Can of Lobster Will do the Trick

Housewives who like to serve lobster, but think it takes too many cans to go round, should try the following recipe, and see if it does not do the trick.

Ingredients:
1-2 pound can of lobster
2 cups of hot milk
4 tablespoonsful of butter
4 tablespoonsful of flour
1-2 cup of chopped blanched almonds
salt and pepper.

Melt the butter, add the flour, stir and cook one minute, then add the hot milk gradually, and the liquid from the can of lobster. Cook a few minutes, then add the diced lobster and the chopped almonds.

Season well, and serve very hot on toast, or else on pattie shells or tim-bales.
Besides being very palatable, if well prepared, lobster has the lead on other foods in iodine content.
Science has found that iodine is the great preventive of goitre, and is increasingly important to note that such delectable Canadian foods as lobsters, clams, oysters and sea fish generally contain iodine in relatively large quantities. People who eat these Canadian foods get delicious and nourishing dishes—and health protection at the same time.

"A SIMPLE little thing," declared Prof. W. B. Cartmel, of the University of Montreal, sitting in the book-strewn study of his Westmount home where, for some months past, since his retirement from the Northern Electric Company, as mathematical expert, he has worked out the highly complicated mathematical formulas by which he attempts to disprove the Einstein theory of the non-existence of ether and the constant speed of light.
Addressing the American Physical Society in New York recently, he took his audience by surprise when he showed them that the slight difference observed between the velocity of light in the two beams reflected upon the interferometer in the original telescope experiment many years ago was not an error as Einstein maintains, but was just what should be expected, and indicates an "ether drift" and proves Newton's third law correct and logical. "In any case," says the genial professor with a merry twinkle in his eyes, "they have got to 'show me' by better proof than they have yet brought".

For King George Memorial

Suggestions Given To Meeting By Archbishop of Canterbury
A memorial to King George should take the form of a statue of his late majesty in London and a philanthropic scheme which would benefit the whole country.

This decision was reached at an influential meeting at the Mansion House, London, convened by the lord mayor at the request of Prime Minister Baldwin. The Archbishop of Canterbury proposed the memorial should take such a form.

HOW'S YOUR STOMACH?

YOU lose vital nerve force if you allow your stomach to distress you. Acid stomach, indigestion, gas or biliousness and "coliciveness" cause the blood to be poisoned and will eventually destroy health and nerve force. This is what Clarence House of St. Mark St., St. Catharines, Ont., had to say. He had no pep, had to force himself to eat, and after eating, it would take him 10 minutes from indigestion and heartburn. I had more than twice as much trouble. I used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it took away my system so that I feel like a different man. The "Discovery" helped to drive away the stomach disease and gave me an appetite. ## FLEMING'S FOLLY

— BY —
LAWRENCE A. KEATING

SYNOPSIS

The story opens with Link Fleming addressing a meeting of Boone County cattlemen, called together with the object of forming an irrigation company.

Roper Kilgo, the boss of the Rawhide and nearby ranges, who seemed to approve the plan, but was really opposed to it, had forced Sam Torney, a derelict mining engineer, whom Kilgo knew, would be called upon to give his expert opinion in favor of the scheme, to reverse his earlier endorsement, and declare that irrigation in Boone county so far as Fleming's plan was concerned was only a new-fangled way to waste money.

The meeting terminates, but Buzz Hamilton and his sister, Helen, Link and Kilgo stay behind and Helen asks Fleming questions about his irrigation plan. This angers Buzz, who accuses Fleming of trying to influence his sister and, as he asserts, ruin his "spread". Buzz shoots at Fleming in an uncontrollable fit of anger, but Buster Townsend, Link's foreman, is shot in the stomach, and Fleming is uninjured. Buzz is arrested and sentenced to three years' imprisonment.

Helen and Fleming form a partnership to provide irrigation for their own properties.

Fleming goes home and studies the plans drawn by Torney to learn whether they could be adapted to a smaller scheme suitable for his and Helen's land, and is satisfied it could be done. Feeling cold, he lights the fire and there is an explosion that wrecks the house, burns it and the plans and renders Link unconscious. He is rescued from the blaze by an employee.

Helen and Link ride to Rawhide for supplies and to obtain funds to carry out the dam project. They meet Roper, who greets Helen and offers to ship with her. Link goes to see the Sheriff, who tells him Buzz Hamilton has been paroled, and would arrive on the morning of the day that he thinks Link has made a mistake in getting Buzz released.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER IX.—Continued

A muscle quirked in Hamilton's cheek as again he failed to hold the rancher's steady gaze and shifted with some uneasiness in his chair. He looked at beefy Roper Kilgo on his right, thence at tall, red-headed Jackpot Mell. Following his eyes, Link felt been apprehension that things were going all wrong—for Buzz had fallen among the very companions he should have avoided.

"Wal, Link," Kilgo boomed boisterously, "I hear you're borrowed a yore neck for that crazy irrigation scheme. Otto Pieper turned yuh down, o' course?"

The statement came in the form of a question. Fleming summoned a careless grin. "If yuh know, Roper, yuh ask me."

"Course he turned yuh down," growled the lynx-eyed Mell. "So yuh're busted, eh, Fleming? Busted, sky high!" he jibed in grating tones. "That's tough, ain't it, boys? It's just—too—bad!"

Fleming's eyes hardened. "Well, Jackpot," he returned in a controlled tone, "I'd sure know better than to ask you for money if I did need it."

"If yuh did need it? Say, if yuh don't need it, I'm a cross-eyed buzzard!"

"Then it might interest you to know," Link retorted crisply, "that I don't need money right now."

Mell started, his face coloring with wrath. For the nuance of his own speech had been twisted to make him a "cross-eyed buzzard." "Yuh callin' me names?" he rasped darily.

The Star Loop owner checked resentful anger that welled up his throat, his face hot. "I called you nothing." Turning to Buzz, he placed a comradely hand on his shoulder. "Shall we let on o' way, oldtimer? Helen will be tickled when you slide off yore horse and grab her in yore arms!"

The taut silence that answered him was disconcerting. Of a sudden Hamilton sent his chair scraping backward as he rose. The prison pallor of his haggard countenance seemed to assume a bluish shade against fire flashing in the newcomers' eyes. His whole thin frame trembled with rage that that fought for expression and he shook a skinny fist close under Fleming's nose.

"I'm onto yore game, you low-down skunk!" he cried in a quavering voice of almost maniacal fury. "I'm onto yore tricks, getting me paroled. Talkin' my sister into throwin' away our triple H on that lousy irrigation scheme only a fool'd take on. I'm onto you, Fleming! And by Gawd, I won't stand for it. Savvy that?"

The Star Loop owner stepped back, his jaw dropping in genuine amazement. "What are you talkin' about, Buzz?" he demanded. "Why,

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches, or the pains of rheumatism, neuritis or neuralgia, ask your doctor what he thinks about it—in comparison with "Aspirin."

To say this because, before the discovery of "Aspirin," most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach; or, often, for the heart. And the discovery of "Aspirin" largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken "Aspirin" year in and out without ill effect, have proved that the medical findings about its safety were correct.

Remember this: "Aspirin" is rated among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains. . . and safe for the average person to take regularly.

say, I—!" He became conscious of the smell of whisky, raw whisky and plenty of it, and he scowled, scrutinizing the man's contorted face.

Roper Kilgo and his cronies had deliberately, maliciously stuffed Buzz with misinformation about the Silver Creek project. Why? The answer came instantly. The florid Kilgo was eaten with apprehension lest Link, after all, make a success of the irrigation project on which Roper had betrayed him at that Trailhead Hotel meeting last fall—and use the very land Kilgo had lost in a poker game to prove what water would do.

Also, there was Roper's attentiveness to Helen Hamilton. His clumsy complimenting, his eyes following every movement with an absorbed, reliable Link did not like to see. Before her return from Ohio, Roper considered himself the only contender of importance for her hand. Now and the thought of Link's plumb speed—she seemed to favor him.

"Got me paroled to make a hit with Helen—yuh know darned well I ain't allowed to manage the spread!" Eyes aflame, Buzz advanced threateningly. "While yuh keep me from my rights, yuh roft ast my sister to beat us out of everything we own. By God," he cried, "I'll kill yuh!"

With quickness astonishing in one of his prison-worn appearance, the maddened man hurled himself forward, jabbing with open hands to choke his victim.

Fleming was caught off guard. Hard fingers snaked cruelly into the flesh of his neck. Instinct made him seek the sixgun on his hip; but he desisted, and with both strong hands tore away the other's fingers. His grasp laid to Buzz's wrists and with a quick, powerful wrench he sent him staggering. Hamilton slipped, fell, and went crashing into chairs grouped around a vacant card table.

Roper Kilgo, Jackpot Mell, and several other men stiffened angrily. The two cronies stood alert to snatch their Colts, glaring. "Let that kid alone!" snarled Mell, a dangerous light in his beady eyes.

Link stood panting, feeling of his neck. He did not fear their forty-fives despite the saloon owners' reputation as a killer. His gaze travelled over the trio, took in three or four other tense patrons of the Half Moon and roved to Gus, the pink-faced bartender, whose china-blue eyes were dilated in astonishment.

Fleming strode to Hamilton and helped him to his feet. "I'm shore sorry, Buzz," he said in a low, vibrant tone. "The fact is, you got me all wrong. Silver Creek Dam is going to help yur spread as much as mine. Helen ain't in danger from me. You aren't either."

The other jerked himself free. He panted wheezingly while he reached for a whiskey bottle and poured a stiff drink. Link's impulse was to stop him, but such a move would be to admit to invite fresh wrath. He stood motionless with indecision.

Roper planted himself squarely before Fleming. "I advise yuh to clear out here pronto. Guess you'll claim yuh didn't know I figured to get Buzz pardoned so he'd have his legal rights? Spose you didn't hurry up and head me off while you make a hit with Helen on this parole stuff that don't do Buzz no good at all?"

The Star Loop owner's jaw dropped. "You get Buzz pardoned?"

Roper put his arm around Hamilton's shoulders in a brotherly gesture. "Think I'll stand by idle while yuh work yore game on a helpless gal? I was goin to fix it with the Governor so's Buzz could be here to protect his property!"

Link stiffened. "Helen Hamilton came in with me of her own free will. There's no game being worked, and you know it. That dam is going to make every other spread in Boone County look like thirty cents—yours included, Kilgo!"

His eye narrowed. "Yeah? Let me tell yuh somethin'. Heavy rains lately have darned near flooded the cut-off. If that water comes on my spread, I'll tell yuh for certain!"

This was indeed a possibility, of which Link was uneasily aware. It was part of his reason for being anxious to complete the dam within the next two or three days.

"It's a crazy scheme," scoffed Jackpot Mell. "Trying to irrigate no-good land! Fleming's Folly—yeah, that's a good name. Not a man in Boone County believes in it. How about you, Seth?" he demanded of Hamilton, the veteran Texas trail driver. "Is Fleming's Folly gonna turn out?"

"Wal, no, I don't reckon 'tis," Howland replied candidly.

"You, Benson?"

"I've seconded his ear. 'Don't like to discourage yuh, Link, but it shore looks to me like yore plumb loco, pourin' all yore money in a looney proposition like that.'"

Other men expressed their lack of faith, but Fleming had heard all this so often before that he paid little heed. His eyes were on young Hamilton, gulping down drink after drink of whiskey. Somehow he had to get the youth away, take him home.

"Buzz," he suggested at last, "let's get going. You've been poisoned against me without hearin' my side. Thing I want is to have you surprise Helen. She's thought about you ever since the day she heard he went on in a low tone. 'Prayed for you every night. She's plumb anxious to see you, son!'"

Warned to the sentimental stage by liquor, Hamilton seemed to be fighting back tears. Fear of shame, himself before all these men prompted him to move slowly toward the swinging doors. Link waited until he thrust them aside, then the rancher sent a cold, defiant look around the circle of faces and started after.

As they stepped onto the brief stop that fronted the Half Moon, swift-thudding hoofs in velvet dust made both men look up. Surprise swept over Fleming's face as he saw Helen, her Stetson tugging at its chin strap about her graceful neck, her brown hair flying in the breeze, haul her lathered pinto to its haunches in a skidding stop, and fling him over her shoulder from the saddle.

"Link!" she yelled, running toward him. "Oh, our eight hundred dollars—I've been robbed!"

Marked The Day

Aberdeen is "out" of the Scottish Cup football competition. This will be a sore disappointment for the Aberdonians; which recalls the story of the Aberdeen woman who reminded her husband of their twenty-third wedding anniversary. "Aye, I mind the day weel," he said, thoughtfully. "Aberdeen beat Glasgaw three to nothing."

Microphone Oratory

Radio Has Placed New Demand On Speech Makers

The radio, as every one knows, has placed a new demand upon political speakers. The old-fashioned campaign oration no longer will do. In its place must come the kind of talk which is calculated not to stir up mass excitement but to convince men and women in their homes. To do that two things are required. One is the right manner, which is to say, the right use of voice and inflection. The other is the right content and organization of the speech itself.

Of the two manner is probably the easier to acquire. It can be learned if the speaker is willing to subject himself to the discipline of rehearsal and criticism. The content presents the harder problem. Men who for many years have been accustomed to addressing public meetings cannot easily abandon the technique of crowd appeal as they have learned it.

Spillblinding requires, more than anything else, a proper spacing of climaxes, building up to a super-climax at the end. What came between the high spots was of relatively small importance. (That is why the reading of such speeches is generally disappointing. The reader marvels that anything so thin and loosely constructed could have proved effective.) The radio speaker has to take a different line. He must prepare an address—it could almost be called an essay—which will march smoothly and steadily from beginning to end. It has its climaxes, but they are relatively quiet ones, and, of course, cannot depend for their success upon excitement induced in the listeners by waving arms, flashing eyes, or cheering.—Chicago Tribune.

Rocket Releases Parachute With Metal Box Carrying Letters

Rocket services are being organized in all leading countries of the world according to the journal of the British Interplanetary Society, which has just been published in London. American and British societies are well known. Germany has a thousand members; Austria has a regular rocket mail service which passes over a high mountain between Roch Troch and Semirach. The rockets, shot off at an angle of 55 degrees, fall, when at their greatest height, a parachute carrying a metal box containing 200 to 300 letters. This novel postal service has its own postage stamps. From Calcutta, India, a rocket reports a rocket shot by him over the Damodar River containing 200 letters and two live birds, the first successful transportation by rocket of living things.

Little Helps For This Week

I will lift up my eyes unto the hills from when cometh my help.
Psalm 121:1.

I look to Thee in every need,
And never look in vain;
I feel Thy touch Eternal Love,
And all is well again!
The thought of Thee is mightier far Than sin and pain and sorrow are.

How can you live sweetly amid the vexations, the irritating things, the multitude of little worries and frets that lie all along your way and which you cannot evade? You cannot at present change your surroundings. Whatever kind of life you are to live must be lived amid the experiences in which you are now moving. Here you must win your victories or face your defeats. No restlessness or discontent can change your lot. Others may live among different surroundings, but here are yours. If you make up your mind to accept what you cannot alter, you can live a beautiful life in the midst of your present circumstances by striving to realize a state of inward happiness independent of them.

Making Bid For Visitors

Manchoukuo Best Place To View
Eclipse In June

Manchoukuo is making a bid for those who wish to view the 1936 eclipse. "Manchoukuo is the best place in the world from which to view the total eclipse visible on June 19," says Dr. Issei Yamamoto, the famous astronomical expert of Kyoto Imperial University. According to the professor the line of the eclipse will rise from the Mediterranean Sea and advance into Siberia, passing through part of Turkey to the Caucasus and Central Asia, and thence to Lake Balkal along the Siberian railway line. Then it will again advance into Siberia along the Amur river and disappear in the Northern Pacific horizon, passing over Hakaido. The eclipse will be visible for about two minutes and 20 seconds. The government will assist visitors.

Playing Safe

"See here," said the Indian inspector, "it is a violation of the law to have more than one wife, and the law must be obeyed. When you get back home you tell all of your wives, except one, that they can no longer look upon you as their husband."

"You tell 'em," suggested the Indian, after a moment's reflection.

"You can now sit comfortably in a chair at home and chat to a friend in Australia without raising your voice," says a writer. In fact, all you have to raise is the money.
